“ Some of my fondest memories of childhood are when Grandma Estelle & Grandpa Jim Lived in Crouch Bend. Sitting this morning, looking out over the lake, I try to image what her first morning of freedom is like. She woke to the sound of mourning doves & realized she had not a pain & was spry again. She can hear the sound of splashing water as Grandpa runs a trotline. He looks and says "wher have you been". And she replies 'it does'nt matter". I am home now.
