“ Wayne, Allison, Mark, Cole and Carson -

*Polly taught me to read and to write stories and even how to sew!
Polly held me in her lap in first grade and comforted me while I cried and cried after some boy called me "Hope the Horse."*

*Polly and my mother Jarrett drank gallons of iced tea while sitting for hours under the sycamore tree between their two houses as the neighborhood kids played in the backyard. She checked on my grandmother Val Ganey a few houses down Lake Drive, and she was a friend to my sister Faith when her family moved in next door.
Allison and my sister Leah were inseparable as children and roommates in grad school.*

She touched more lives than you will ever know. Just imagine the exponential effect she had on people because she taught them to read and write! Thousands upon thousands of books were read and letters were written and texts were pecked out - all because of Polly Miley.

I doubt there is a greater legacy one can leave than to be a shining light in the dark. Be assured, even in your grief, that Polly's kindness, compassion, strength, talent, faith and love live on. So many are better for having been blessed with her presence in their lives. So many like me.

With love and sadness, Hope

“ I feel like Polly Jean and Sue were the sisters I never had and, although we have been far apart for many years, we managed to stay in touch and stay connected. As cousins, whose grandmothers were sisters, our bond was unbroken. I am so sorry for the loss of this special wife, mother and grandmother who was such an important center for her family. So many good memories to savor. My heart goes out to all of you for this very great loss. May your faith give you peace and Polly Jean's memory be a Blessing and Comfort to you. Nancy Meyers
